Alaska Outdoor Council PAC Endorses Palin

Anchorage – October 2, 2006 – Republican Candidate for Governor Sarah Palin recently received the endorsement of the Alaska Outdoor Council PAC. The AOCPAC is dedicated to the preservation of outdoor pursuits in Alaska including hunting, fishing, trapping, firearms ownership and public access. They also champion the conservation of the habitats upon which they depend.

“Sarah not only represents a new generation of leadership for Alaska’s outdoor traditions, she embodies the typical Alaskan outdoors person we appeal to,” said AOCPAC Secretary Eddie Grasser. “We feel strongly that Sarah will stand behind the AOC’s dedication to preserving traditional outdoor opportunities for our members.”

“This is a great honor for me,” Palin said of the AOCPAC endorsement. “I grew up hunting and fishing in Alaska and it’s still a huge part of my life. We fish and hunt as much as we can and I’m proud to say our freezer is full of wild game we hunted here in Alaska.”

The AOCPAC is a partner of the AOC, which is the official State Association of the National Rifle Association – another organization that has recently endorsed Palin. The AOC works hand in hand with the NRA, doing at the state level what the NRA does at the national level: protecting Alaskan’s Second Amendment Rights, promoting gun safety and encouraging participation in shooting sports.
